MUSEUM LECTURES
Week of March 12

Two lectures are scheduled this week at the Art Museum. The first, MODERN ARCHITECTURE AT MID-CENTURY, will be given today at 3:30 p.m. by Thomas M. Folds, Dean of Education at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Mr. Folds' talk is pertinent to the Museum's current exhibit MODERN ARCHITECTURE, U.S.A.

On Friday evening, March 17 at 8:30, a discussion on DUTCH LANDSCAPE ILLUMINATION, will be given by an authority on Medieval Dutch and Flemish art, L. J. M. Delaissé, Fellow at All Souls College, Oxford, and currently visiting lecturer at Berkeley University.
